CALL FOR ARTISTS

"Visual the Score: When Art and Music Converge": A Juried Art Exhibit

Music can evoke powerful emotions and memories. Beethoven's "Symphony No. 9" might transport listeners to a world of grandeur, while the gentle strum of a guitar in "Blackbird" by The Beatles can provide calm. Exploring musical genres and the feelings they conjure up, offer insights into different cultures and eras. Many find joy in music's connections, whether singing along to Queen's "Bohemian Rhapsody" or sharing moments over a beloved song. For some, music is a sanctuary, like the solace of "Clair de Lune" by Debussy. This exhibit invites artists to showcase how a particular piece of music can inspire art, celebrating the ways these journeys enrich our lives.

Artists are invited to submit up to three (3) images based on any piece of music of their choice. All mediums are welcome. If possible, all selected artworks will be presented with a QR code enabling guests to listen to the music that inspired the work. Exhibit is limited to approximately 40 pieces. Submissions will be juried by a peer panel. Evaluations will be based on composition, impact, creativity, technical execution and consistency with the theme.
